

Travellers from the UK since 1st Jan 2021

On entering France, you may need evidence at immigration that you have sufficient resources to be in France. It is sufficient to show evidence of a booked holiday/accommodation between your dates of travel in and out of the country. (If you don't have a booked holiday/accommodation for certain dates, you need to show that you have enough money per day to stay here). Enforcement of this varies but these are the strict rules!

I can provide you with a receipt that will provide evidence of accommodation between your holiday dates here at FRH.

As before you need to bring evidence of your travel/healthcare insurance.

Just as a reminder you also need 6 months remaining on your UK passport. A UK passport can be valid for longer than 10 years. France does not recognise the extra months. So, you must look at the start date and work out that you have 6 months remaining on your passport ignoring any extra months you might have. Your passport will be stamped on entry and exit. Without a visa or residency you are only allowed 90 days in total in the EU in a year.

Check the detailed rules from the government website on what you are allowed to bring into France, but since Brexit, the big changes for UK travellers are you cannot bring any meat/fish/dairy/flowers/plants.

For those hiring a car/driving to get here, you need to check with your Hire agency but you can drive here on a valid UK driving license and you do not need an insurance "green card".

You need to check the latest health rules/quarantine on travel into France, and returning to the UK, from the government and your airline.

The above is what I summarise, but please do check for yourselves what is needed as the rules change regularly. Amanda
